

Hanno[®] Joint Sealing Tapes in a proven quality in the RAL colours you need for your project!

Hanno[®] joint sealing tapes can be provided with a colour which matches the architectural situation.

Contrary to some of the other competitive products, the Hanno[®] joint sealing tapes are fully dye penetrated. Consideration does not have to be given to which side the outer side (dyed) is.

Hanno works with a special dyed impregnation which has the same features as the impregnation which is normally grey or black. This ensures a long-time stability.

The individually dyed tapes not only provide new design possibilities when installing windows, but also when sealing the joints of house facades, roof connections, or the transitions between single concrete elements, as with noise protection walls, for example.

Hanno supplies the dyed tapes from a minimum order quantity of 5 m³.
